

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure

The only Baking Powder made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar

NO ALUM, NO LIME PHOSPHATE

ANNUAL REPORT OF GOVERNOR MILLS MADE PUBLIC

Territory Becomes a State Under Most Favorable Conditions; Population Rapidly Increasing.

The annual report of Governor William J. Mills to the secretary of the interior has just been made public by the department. The report is for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1911, and is dated September 15. It is a full and exhaustive review of the condition of the territory in all branches of governmental activity, and covers forty-five pages of printed matter. Inasmuch as it is the last annual report that will ever be made by a governor of New Mexico to a department of the United States, it is of exceptional interest at this time.

The report begins with a general resume of conditions in the territory during the year 1910-1911. The progress of railroad building, of irrigation enterprises, of activity in dry farming, of the development of the coal fields of the territory, of road construction and of mining of the precious metals, are all set out in this statement, and show a most gratifying state of development for the territory as a whole. As to population, the governor gives it as his opinion that in the year that has elapsed since the taking of the census of 1910 there has been a rapid growth of the population, and he places $40,000 as a conservative estimate of the number of inhabitants at present.

An interesting feature of the report is the account that the governor gives of the events leading to the adoption of the constitution and the expenditure of the funds provided for holding the constitutional convention and for the election of delegates to the convention. On this subject the governor says:

"One hundred thousand dollars was appropriated by congress to defray the necessary expenses of holding the constitutional convention and the elections prescribed by the enabling act, to be locally expended by the secretary of the territory, under the direction and in the discretion of the secretary of the interior. This disbursing and accounting of this money involved a vast amount of detail, especially in the preparation and certification of vouchers, and naturally the work of checking and passing the various claims took up considerable time, although every effort was made to settle all accounts as promptly as possible.

"The work of paying the election expenses was particularly arduous, as all of the election officials had to be paid by individual voucher and check, in compliance with United States statutes and regulations of the treasury department. To better understand the magnitude of this undertaking, it should be borne in mind that New Mexico has almost 600 voting precincts, and at all general elections there are three members of a board of election and two clerks of election in each precinct, not to mention messengers employed in delivering the ballot boxes to and from the different polling places.

"If the $100,000 appropriated for election purposes, there remains unexpended at this time $127,838. Of this amount $12,000 is still in the United States treasury, subject to requisition, and the remainder is on deposit in the local United States depository. Had the constitutional convention continued in session the full sixty days provided for by the enabling act, instead of adjourning at the end of fifty days, the funds available would have probably been entirely exhausted, as the expenses of the convention were approximately $1,000 a day, including per diem of the delegates and the salaries of the various officers and employees."

The report shows the continuance of a steady stream of immigration to the state, and states that the last fiscal year has witnessed the opening up of a very large acreage of land filed on in the early days of the homestead rush. In the opinion of the governor, the most satisfactory phase of the immigration movement of the past year has been in the number of newcomers into our irrigated districts.

The financial statement of the territory as shown in the report sets out a balance on hand in the treasury at the present time of $525,275.12, as against $385,149.14 at the close of the preceding fiscal year. The receipts of the territory for taxation during the year amounted to $657,763.99, and from sources other than taxation $362,886.62. During the year the bonded indebtedness of the territory was reduced by $26,500, leaving a total of $975,000 of bonded indebtedness now outstanding.

A very gratifying showing was made by the public schools of the territory, the school enrollment in June, 1911, being approximately 58,000, an increase of 2,000 over the year before. This does not include the enrollment in private and sectarian schools, or in the Indian schools, but merely the students enrolled in institutions supported by the territory. The report also contains an interesting statement of the condition of higher learning.

Many other subjects, such as irrigated and dry farming, the Carey act, good roads, and national forests, are discussed in the governor's report. It is a most interesting document and will repay a close study by those interested in the resources and progress of what was once the territory, but is now the state of New Mexico.

BECKMAN'S VIEWS ON EARLY SHOPPING QUESTIONS

Local Methodist Divine Declares Movement Advantageous to Merchant and to Public as Well as Clerks.

The Rev. Charles Oscar Beckman, pastor of the First Methodist church, is one of the local ministers who have taken an active and most helpful interest in the early shopping movement in Albuquerque. He recently spoke most eloquently upon this subject from the pulpit, and, in discussing the early shopping idea with a Herald man today, he gave his views with characteristic vigor and directness.

"This idea of early Christmas shopping is a good one," said Mr. Beckman. "It is the fruit of the Son of God, of the eternal principle known as the Golden Rule. This idea carried into practice is advantageous to the buyer, since, purchasing early, he has first choice of the goods displayed, and they are not soiled by many handlings of prospective buyers. Furthermore there is the test of mind which comes from having gifts purchased, thus adding to the real Christmas spirit.

"It is of value to the merchant because he has the satisfaction of knowing the goods have been disposed of, money is in the till and there is less danger of broken or soiled goods from frequent handlings.

"The plan is beneficial to both merchant and clerk in that it does away with a long period of shopping with its nervous strain, and consequent long hours and rushing business just preceding the Christmas day.

"All hail to the day when Christmas selling and Christmas buying is not one mad rush the week preceding what is known as 'the Christmas holidays.'"

COMMITTEES WILL BEGIN CANVASS ON MONDAY

The canvassing committee, which is to determine the practicability of raising the necessary funds for bringing the union meeting of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen here late next May, will begin its work Monday.

All the merchants of the city will be called upon, and the amount each is willing to contribute to the cause will be ascertained. About $2,500 is needed to assure this gathering for Albuquerque.

The men in charge of the affair expect to bring at least 1,000 men and their families here for four or five days, winding up the stay here with a trip to the Grand Canyon. A number of excursions are planned for the affair. The union meeting of employees is to discuss the betterment of work and working conditions and the plan originated in the Highland lodge of the Brotherhood.

COURT NOTES

The district court today rendered judgment by default in the case of Angelo Viviana, et al., against Henry H. Angelo, et al., in favor of the plaintiffs. Judgment in the sum of $4,229.60, with a trustee's fee and interest, was given. The court ordered a writ of execution covering the indebtedness to be issued and the property covered to be sold within ninety days, unless the defendants within that time paid the debt. Otto Diekmann was appointed special master to make the sale.

A marriage license was issued today to Teresita Lacero and Julian Errera, both of Duranes.

A marriage license was issued yesterday to Delina Lopez and Julian Jarama, both of Barajas.

The supreme court is expected to adjourn today until December 18, and Judge Abbott will return to his home here at that time. He has made no statement regarding the reconvening of the jury, however.

H. O. Snyder, who formerly had charge of an office here for the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, but who has made his headquarters in Pueblo for some time past, has again transferred his residence to this city. Mr. Snyder will open an office in the lower floor of the State National bank block, and will make his headquarters here instead of at Pueblo, continuing to travel through New Mexico and southern Colorado, however, just as before. Mr. Snyder holds the position of superintendent of agents.

MALLOY'S

Fancy California Grapes 2 lbs. for 25c.

California Head Lettuce 10c

Native Spinach, lb. 10c

Navel Oranges, 30c, 40c 50c dozen.

Florida Grape Fruit, 2 for 25c

Belle Springs Butter, pound 40c

Heinz's Mince Meat, pound 25c

Good Mince Meat, 2 pounds for 25c

CLUB HOUSE MINCE MEAT

Condensed, pkg. 15c

Jars 85c, $1.00, $1.25

Strawberries, box 20c

New Club House Goods of All Kinds Arriving Every day.

SPECIAL TOMORROW

1 case, 24 cans, Mixed Vegetables—Corn, Peas, and Tomatoes. $2.25.

A. J. MALLOY

Phones 172 and 173. 216 West Central Avenue

FASHIONABLE HOUSE SAW PARADISE OF MAHOMET

The Show Was Excellent and Made One of the Big Hits of the Season; Red Rose Is Next.

It is not often given to Albuquerque, and to see a show of the excellent merit of the Paradise of Mahomet as presented by Miss Grace Van Studdiford and company at the Elks' last night, and that Albuquerqueans are not unappreciative of their opportunities is shown by the large and fashionable audience that literally packed the house to the doors.

Miss Van Studdiford is no stranger in this city, and her work last night only served to strengthen the hold that she has on the affections of Albuquerqueans. Her really remarkable voice is as clear and beautiful as ever, and she has lost nothing of the striking Juno-like beauty which gives her such a commanding stage presence. Also, it might be added, Miss Van Studdiford can act—a quality not always deemed necessary in comic opera stars, but not in the least detracting from the ensemble of an otherwise meritorious performance.

The play was elaborately staged, scenery, costumes and mountings being fully up to the standard of the best Broadway productions. A plot there was, of about the texture of the filmy harem skirts worn by the merry-merry, but it was not allowed to encumber the performance or interfere with the perfect smoothness of things. And perhaps the most pleasing feature of the show was the excellent balance of the cast. There were no weak spots, a general high standard of musical and theatrical excellence being maintained by the entire company.

For this reason it is difficult to single out for special mention any of those who contributed to the entertainment of the evening. John J. McCowan, as the American chauffeur, and Miss Loun Burd, as the able-minded lady who persisted in reminding her second husband of the surpassing virtues of her first, had the leading comedy roles and sustained them in such an admirable manner that not a dull moment was allowed to intrude during the evening. But scarcely less conspicuously good was the work of Florence Kohl as Maoud, Edward Mora as Prince Cassim and Miss Rother as Vaninka. Miss Rother has a voice that is not often heard in light opera roles, and it is safe to predict that she has a great future before her in her profession.

Like everything that comes from the pen of Harry R. Smith, the dialogue was bright and clever, and the action was never allowed to drag. The music was of the tuneful kind that keeps you whistling for days afterward, some of the lyrics being among the most catchy ever heard here. The song hit of the play, "There's Something About You, Dear, That Appeals to Me," was sung by Mr. McCowan and Miss Rother and received repeated accolades. "Give Me Your Her Own Way," "My Wedding Day," "I Can't Get Enough," and "My Idea of Paradise," also earned heavily.

The next attraction at the Elks' will be the Red Rose, which comes to town Saturday night. The seat sale opened this morning at Matson's, and all indications are for one of the biggest houses of the season. Owing to train schedules it has been decided to have the first curtain at 7:30 instead of at 8 o'clock as is usual with Saturday night shows in Albuquerque.

Y. W. C. A. SHOWS WORK FOR YEAR

Report Is Made on Financial Management of Institution Showing Where the Money Is Expended.

Following is the report rendered by the auditor of the Y. W. C. A. for the annual meeting of 1911: Receipts and disbursements, November 6, 1910, to November 7, 1911. By J. H. Good, Auditor.

Cash on hand in office, 11-6-10, $ 35.15
Overdraft at bank, 11-6-10, 26.53
Breakfasts, 544.92
Dinner, 2,121.22
Suppers, 1,296.53
Meals on account, 912.57
House and office, 323.95
Membership fees, 185.95
Donations, 553.94
Educational, 24.00
Block day, 11.52

$8,014.67

Disbursements:
Office expenses, salaries, etc., $67.41
House, 556.37
Cafe, 4,171.32
Membership fees, 4.65
Social, 4.20
Educational, 43.09
Traveling expenses, 25.00
General expenses, 20.65
Bills payable, 109.09
Interest, 5.87
Special account, 58.50
Cash balance Nov. 7, 1911, (on hand), 3.70
Bank balance in bank, Nov. 7, 1911, 129.44
$8,014.67

Auditor's Statement for 1911.

Receipts:
Educational, 324.90
Block day, to general fund, 11.52
Disbursements, $43.09

Useful Gifts for Mother, for Sister and for Her

See Our Window Display of Christmas Novelties

Useful Gifts for Father, for Brother and for Him

We are showing many exclusive novelties in High Class Furniture

Beautiful Christmas Gifts

Few seasons in our experience have brought out so many delightfully dainty Novelties for home equipment as this Christmas season. They are here for you to see, admire and to purchase, if you wish. The aim of this store is always to present Quality, Utility and beauty in Furnishings for the home.

PARLOR CABINETS, in mahogany. Extremely handsome parlor pieces, in many designs and prices.

SHAVING CABINETS, in oak finishes and mahogany, with adjustable mirrors. A beautiful ornament and a practical delight to the men folk.

SEWING CABINETS, in oak finishes, mission and mahogany, with drop leaf, square and octagonal. Will please mother and the girls.

CELLARITIES. We are showing many designs in Cellarities, all new and classy. Some with brass serving trays, some with glass showing floral designs underneath, plain glass, and glass over mahogany. These are attracting much attention.

NEWSPAPER RACKS. Made in all oak finishes. An inexpensive and truly ornamental article.

SMOKERS' SETS. We show many designs, in many finishes, in brass, nickel and sterling silver, with cigar and pipe holders. There is a wide range of prices.

WORK BASKETS, in mission and fumed oak, octagonal and square, in many designs and prices.

CARD TABLES. The latest in Card Tables, folds into small space, absolutely right. Covered with felt or leather.

FOOT RESTS, in mission and fumed oak, with Spanish leather pad, in several designs and prices.

SHOE CASES, in many designs. Useful and an ornament to your room.

CUT GLASS. Our line of Cut Glass is extensive and of highest grade. The price is very low for the quality.

TELEPHONE TABLES. A handsome and useful piece for the phone. Contains drawer for telephone book, pen, pencil, etc. Made in oak and mission.

Summary of Losses.
Cafe $222.25
House 296.12
Office 142.25
Sundry account 58.59
Total $629.21

CAPITAL CITY IS PREPARING FOR INAUGURATION

Santa Fe Can Be Relied Upon to Do Herself Proud When the January Blowout Comes Off.

Santa Fe, N. M., Dec. 8.—Inauguration day preparations and program are assuming tangible shape. The executive committee met yesterday afternoon at the New Mexican editorial office, with chairman and vice chairmen of various sub-committees, and extensive reports were made by the committee on arrangements, while estimates were submitted by all of the other committees except that on decorations, showing that about $5,000 will be needed to finance the affair.

Mayor Arthur Seligman presided, and there were present besides Secretary Paul A. F. Walter, M. A. Otero, Levi A. Hughes, R. P. Ervin, J. H. Crist, Charles M. Stauffer, Bronson Cutting, J. A. Maness, Frank Hutt, N. B. Laughlin, James L. Seligman, C. E. Keady and Mrs. R. Spitz. J. H. Crist reported that it is the sentiment of the majority of the committee of arrangements that the palace of the governors and the National guard armory are the most suitable place for the reception and ball. The committee proposes to utilize the entire palace structure, to enclose the portal with canvas, to construct a covered board walk from the rear of the palace to the entrance of the National guard armory. The decorations will be very elaborate; as under these plans there will be ample opportunity for display. Both for sentimental and historic reasons it was urged that the two structures should be used in preference to a hotel. Mr. Crist also outlined plans for a great pageant, allegorical and patriotic, but the committee voted to confine the parade to military organization.

Further details of the inauguration had been worked out by the committee on arrangements and will be made public when ratified by the executive committee.

The address of Governor William J. Mills will be delivered before Governor-elect McDonald takes his oath. The inaugural address of the new governor will follow immediately. Archbishop Pitaval was invited to pronounce the invocation.

The mayors of all incorporated municipalities and presidents of chambers of commerce will be invited and given places on the reception committee if they accept the invitations.

The committees discussed details for two hours and then adjourned to meet at the call of Acting Chairman Arthur Seligman.

WOODROW WILSON DENIED PENSION

Ex-Head of Princeton Applied to Carnegie Foundation Fund but Was Coldly Turned Down by Directors.

New York, Dec. 5.—A New York paper friendly to him says that when Woodrow Wilson left the students of Princeton to other hands a year ago this fall and accepted the possibility of becoming the chief executive of New Jersey he wrote to the Carnegie foundation for the advancement of teaching and asked to be pensioned. At that time he was 53 years old. He was relinquishing a place to which an emolument of $5,000 a year was attached and moving toward an office that paid $10,000. The shadow of a $50,000 job was already being cast before him by some of his more enthusiastic friends.

Governor Wilson's communication asked something for which the trustees in a broad construction of their powers had the permission of the fund's donor. But the way in which his request was worded gave them every reason to believe that he considered a pension to be the inevitable result of the twenty-five years of service as a teacher of the young which he had barely completed. He was informed that it was not automatic and no such pension had ever been granted, for, very possibly, the reason that it was the first request of the kind that the trustees had received in the four years of the foundation's life.

When this was explained to the retiring president of Princeton he received the added information that if he considered his claim well enough founded to apply formally the matter would come before the executive committee, which meets in the intervals between the full board's annual gatherings.

The formal application followed. It was considered by the executive committee. The merits of the case were discussed and the application denied.

This action was not made public at the time because the board does not disclose the names of its unsuccessful applicants.

"I had been troubled with constipation for two years and tried all of the best physicians in Bristol, Tenn., and they could do nothing for me," writes Thos. E. Williams, Middleboro, Ky. "Two packages of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets cured me." For sale by all dealers.

Many hundreds of dollars in free pictures to be given away.

INFORMAL OPENING OF

Our New Ground-Floor Studio

Saturday Evening, Dec. 9

6:30 to 9:30

GRAY, the Busy Photographer

John Lewis Clark Music Co.

Successors to Whitson Music Co.

THE ONE PRICE PIANO STORE

Everything pertaining to Music. Write us or call. Factory representatives for the Baldwin company line of pianos.

114 South Second Street

Albuquerque, N. M.

Expert Piano Tuning. Give Us Your Orders.